Dear Sir or Madam,

Ms. [REDACTED] came to our university to attend the study program [REDACTED] in order to graduate as [REDACTED]. As her Lecturer, I have the opportunity to get to know her during her Bachelor study and in several group projects.

As a student at Fontys University of Applied Sciences in Venlo, [REDACTED] managed to integrate easily into the class.

Ms. [REDACTED] strong points include his design en engineering mindset, keen perception, as well as her autonomous and structured working style. She proved to be a fast learner easily applying theory into practice.

All her work was submitted within the set deadlines and showed a concern for careful problem definition and structure. Determined, versatile and reliable are characteristics that describe her personality accurately. As a result of her distinctive social skills Ms. [REDACTED] is also a strong team player.

During her studies Ms. [REDACTED] proved to be an excellent and motivated student with good communication skills in a multicultural environment. Her ability to see a problem from a different perspectives and to think "out of the box" will be of great benefit in the design and technical field.
